PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume I will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

MR. CRAIG—In reply to your correspondent, allow me to remark, that the payment of duties at Pittsburgh, on imports from abroad, does not remove the necessity of entry and reshipment at New Orleans. Whether a part of that business will hereafter be done at Natchez, is the only question under discussion by A LOOKER ON.

For the Gazette.

BALTIMORE AND THE PENNSYLVANIA CANAL.

In calculating the amount of business likely to be done on the Pennsylvania Canal, and looking to the various interests which concur in demanding an extension of it, so as to intersect the Ohio Canal, the position of Baltimore, in reference to this whole subject, does not seem to have engaged a due share of attention.

On consulting the Map, it will be seen that this city is much nearer than Philadelphia to the point on the Susquehanna which must be reached by every article of produce from the West seeking the seabord through the Pennsylvania Canal; and that she has, of course, a corresponding advantage over Philadelphia, in attaining that point in the forwarding of merchandise westward.

The Baltimore and Susquehanna Rail Road was, it is well known, projected with a view to this state of things; but the influence of Philadelphia was for some time strong enough in the legislature to repel every application for an avenue thro' our State. The truth is, Baltimore was indiscreet in announcing prematurely her glowing anticipations, and this gave a fine handle to the Philadelphians. In the official report of 3d August, 1827, relative to the Baltimore and Susquehanna Rail Road, it is said:

"Upon reference to the view of the country, and the improvements now going on in Pennsylvania, it will be observed that our Rail Road contemplates intersecting the Susquehanna at the point where the immense line of Canals now in progress in that State terminates. It would be wholly incalculable to estimate the trade which must be brought to this point. Baltimore is nearer to this position by one third the distance than Philadelphia—possessing thereby an advantage which must forever give us the superiority in competition for the trade."

And again:

"We have nothing, in fact, to do, but to take up the work where they leave it, and to finish, at a trifling expense, a great line of internal communication, which the exertions of our spirited and enterprizing neighbors have conducted within our reach."

From these texts, Philadelphia has preached many an eloquent homily; but, at length, other counsels have prevailed; it was thought that the productiveness of the canal, in the greater part of its rout, ought not to be sacrificed to sectional feeling; and on the 14th of March, 1832, an act passed incorporating a Company for making a Rail Road from the Maryland State line to the town of York, in Pennsylvania. This may be considered as securing substantially the object at which Baltimore has so long aimed. The remonstrance of the Select and Common Councils of Philadelphia to the Legislature, during the discussion of the Bill, discloses the apprehensions with which it was regarded.

"The Councils regard the bill, with those who have heretofore most strenuously urged its adoption, as intended to offer to Baltimore the great trade of Pennsylvania—a trade which the public works of the State will bring to a point on the Susquehanna, &c." The object of the Bill is declared to be "to confer without the slightest equivalent on Baltimore all the advantages of the sale and barter of the produce thus diverted; to secure to her the return trade of which Philadelphia, and with her Pennsylvania, now has the immense benefit," &c. &c.

In addition to the mode of access thus secured, a project is on foot at Baltimore, for navigating the Susquehanna by steam boats of a light draft of water, and another for a canal up the Susquehanna, making the Port Deposit Canal a part of it.

It is indisputable, that the moment the Pennsylvania works are fully in operation, Baltimore must either take advantage of them, or abandon all hope of retaining any portion of Western trade. The prospect is, at all events, very remote, that either the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road, or the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, will reach the waters of the West. She must, then, tap the Pennsylvania rout. As this state of things seems inevitable, would it not be well for our Ohio friends, who complain of the apathy of Philadelphia as to an extension of the great work to the Ohio Canal—who despair of rousing her drowsy capitalists—to endeavor to ascertain whether her more stirring and mercurial rival might not be excited? With every predilection for Philadelphia, we should rejoice to witness a generous emulation, in reference to an object of deep importance, in which the two cities have a community of interest. The sympathies of the West will certainly be with that commercial emporium which shall first extend to her a patient hearing and a liberal countenance. Philadelphia may well dread the shorter cut and the grateful impulse which may concur in deciding the course of the Western merchant, at the great Cross Roads on the Susquehanna.

AN OBSERVER.

Dr. Aylett Hawes, of Virginia, has bequeathed freedom to about one hundred slaves, and twenty dollars for each, to assist the Colonization Society in conveying them to Liberia.—American Daily Advertiser.

From the United States Gazette.

Dr. J. R. Rhinelander has furnished the editors of the New York Standard, with the following account of experiments, tried on the body of Le Blanc, after his execution:

"The prisoner was about thirty years of age, and well formed, and very muscular. He was executed at twenty minutes past twelve, and hung for the space of thirty five minutes. His body was received at the Court Room, where the experiments were performed, nearly twenty minutes after he was cut down. The face was livid, but not much altered—the mark of the rope was below the cartilages of the Larynx, and its print was very deep. The temperature of the body was natural, and a thermometer, placed in his mouth, gave 94° Fahrenheit. The superficial veins were much distended by blood. The dissections were made by Dr. Halsey, of this city, Dr. Howell, of Princeton, and myself. The Galvanic Battery consisted of three hundred and sixteen pair of plates, and was most ably served by Dr. Gale, of this city, and Professor Henry, of Princeton. There were many of the faculty of New Jersey, and almost five hundred spectators present during the experiment.

Experiment First.—An incision was made in the course of the mastoid muscle upon the neck, in order to apply the positive pole of the battery, to the par vagum and sympathetic nerves. Before reaching the sheaths of the vessels of the neck, a branch of the superficial jugulars was cut, and a very profuse hæmmorrhage ensued of dark blood, resembling cholera blood. It differed in one very important particular, that it became oxygenated after exposure to the atmosphere, while cholera blood suffered no change. I was much surprized, in opening the sheaths of the vessels, to find both the carrotid artery and internal jugular vein completely collapsed, and no blood in either of them, and, making further dissection, it was discovered that the internal vessels were empty, while the superficial vessels were gorged with black blood. The blood was very warm and fluid. Dr. Howel now laid bare the median basilic vein, and it was full. I then made a puncture, and introduced the pipe for transfusion, and injected about two pounds of warm water, at the temperature of 112°. An incision was made under the cartilage of the seventh rib, and the negative pole of the battery placed in contact with the diaphragm, while the positive pole touched the eighth pair of nerves, and the sympathetic in the neck. The whole body was violently agitated; the chest heaved, and the arms and legs were thrown in great action, and the muscular apparatus was in constant motion.

Experiment; Second.—The positive pole was placed on the brachial plexus, and the muscular, spiral and ulner nerves were in contact with the negative. The arm was put in very violent motion, and it was with difficulty that it could be held by one of the operators.

Experiment Third.—Dr. Halsey extracted the spinous process of the upper cervical vertebra, and the positive pole applied to the spinal cord, while the negative was placed upon the sciatic nerves as it passed out of the pelvis. The body, and especially the lower extremity, was violently convulsed, and the leg could with difficulty be retained on the table.

Experiment Fourth.—The infraorbitar, supercilliary and portio dura nerves were laid bare, and the countenance exhibited all the varieties of muscular action. The eyes and the lips opened and closed, and all the passions were fully expressed. This experiment showed that placing a pole upon the branches of the portio dura controlled the expression as well as placing the poles upon either of the nerves, above or below the eye. The experiments were varied, and the poles of the battery reversed, with no diminution of effect.

The experiments upon Le Blanc, exhibited some striking features, which were not observed upon Johnson, Hill, and others, whom I saw galvanized in this city, and there are some facts which altho' they may have been noticed, have not been recorded. When death ensues in ordinary cases, the blood retreats to the internal parts of the system, and fills the veins, leaving the arteries empty. In this case the supercial veins were full, while the large veins emptying into the heart, as well as the right auricle and ventricle of the heart were entirely free from all fluid; and what is most extraordinary, the heart itself lost all its irritability, and was not susceptible of the action of the galvanic pole when applied to it. The lungs were also in perfect collapse, and no air could be perceived in them. It is possible that these appearances resulted from the manner in which this man was hanged. The rope was placed below the cartilages of the larynx, and may have tightened at the moment the lungs were free from air, and their sudden cessation of action may have retained the circulation of the surface. In ordinary cases, the rope is placed above the laryngeal cartilages, and respiration would, from their firmness, be more gradually suspended, and the blood then would occupy the ordinary position. It would be a remarkable fact, that sudden suspension of respiration destroys the irritability of the heart, and prevents the blood returning to the large vessels, as would seem to be the case in the present instance. This man died with very little apparent suffering, and it was, as I apprehended, entirely attributable to the rope being placed very low down upon the neck, and producing suffocation instantaneously. The galvanic action upon a large muscle did not produce synchronous effect upon every part of the muscle, but one portion of muscular fibre communicated the impulse to the next one, producing a wavy motion, or a chain of successive actions.

There was no chyle in the thoracic duct, or in the lacteals—in every instance except this, it was very abundant.

I have very little doubt that with transfusion and galvanic action, life, in most cases, could be restored after hanging, but in this instance, where there was no blood to stimulate the action of the heart, and which would have been assisted by the warmth of the injected fluid, the chance was very small.

The body retained much galvanic influence; for upon placing the hand upon the cartilage of the ribs, a very sensible shock was experienced.

The dissection of Le Blanc shows that when death is produced suddenly by suffocation, that the circulation does not retire to the internal cavities, but remains in the superficial vessels—that the heart loses its irritability, and that the body, becoming charged with galvanic fluid, is capable of giving a shock. If upon further experiments upon animals, these facts should be established, they may lead to some important results, and establish views of the circulation very different from those now admitted by physiologists.

$603,900 were passed to the credit of the United States' Treasury on Monday by the collector of this port. It was the amount of duties collected during the previous week, after deducting debentures, return duties, light house bills, and all other sums paid by the Collector. It is, we understand, the largest sum which ever accrued in a single week. This does not look much like a reduction of revenue.—N. Y. Jour. of Com.

Health of New Orleans.—The Argus of the 27th ult. states that on the preceding day there occurred "many and some severe cases" of sickness—yellow fever, we presume. It is supposed that twenty thousand persons are absent from the city. For the two weeks, ending on the 23d ult., there were 172 deaths, or about 12 a day.

Trade of Lake Erie.—It is estimated, by those caquainted with the subject, that there will be about thirty Steam Boats afloat on Lake Erie next season. Most of the boats are large and splendid. The Geo. Washington, which has just commenced her trips, is about 700 tons burden, and finished and fitted out in the most splendid manner.—Our enterprising townsman, Col. Charles M. Reed, has just laid the keel of another large and splendid boat, at this place. She is to be about 500 tons burden, and he intends to finish her in a manner unsurpassed by any other afloat.—Erie Gaz.

The Sun Flower.—It is said by experienced agriculturalists, that this plant, properly cultivated, is probably the most profitable of any ever cultivated. The oil extracted from its seeds which are more oleaginous than those of any other plant known to us, combines the qualities, for eating, of the olive or sweet oil; for burning, of the best Sperm. oil, without the smoke of the latter; and for painting of flax seed oil. The young flower cups of this plant are very esculent and agreeable to the taste, when prepared and eaten as artichokes. The stalks are an excellent substitute for hemp in manufacturing pack thread.

From its flowers the most luscious and highly flavored honey is extracted. It is estimated that the plant will yield between 80 and 100 bushels of seed to the acre; which will furnish from five to seven quarts of oil to the bushel. We think it would be an object for some of our agriculturists to make the experiment. The flower will flourish on ground unfit for any thing else.—Hampden Whig.

Buenos Ayres.—We have Buenos Ayres papers to July 20th. Government had issued a decree, dated July 15th, suspending that of 7th April 1830, which prohibited the exportation of gold and silver coin. The duty on exportation, will be as designated in the Tariff. On gold and silver bullion, the prohibition is still in force. The order authorising the reshipment of gold and silver, free of duty, if reshipped within the first six months after its introduction, is repealed.

A Singular Case—Was brought before the last term of the Todd Circuit Court. A negro woman, the property of Wilson Cooxy, was arraigned for killing her own child. She was seen to retire on a Sunday evening, (apparently cheerful and contented,) to the house in which she usually slept. The next morning the child was found dead, and laid out, having been killed by a blow upon the head with an axe. The mother was missing and could not be found for several days—and when found, seemed in a state of stupid derangement, and almost famished with hunger. For sometime she refused to talk at all, but at length, voluntarily broke silence and confessed that she had it in contemplation for several years to kill her child and then to kill herself—that she thought both her and her child would be happier in another world than in this; that, about three years ago, she set off one day to go to a very deep spring in the neighborhood, for the purpose of drowning herself—but that, on her way, she reflected that her child would be left behind in this world, to suffer in slavery; that she then determined to return and kill herself; but that she had not the firmness sooner to carry her resolution into effect. She had been observed to treat her child with more than ordinary tenderness. She was tried, found guilty of murder, and sentence of death was passed upon her—but her execution was deferred, she being enciente.—Hopkinsville (Ky.) Adv.

The Proscriptive Policy.—It is to be regretted that there are no standard rules, by which to estimate Honor and Virtue. It always appeared to us that the course pursued by Gen. Jackson, on entering on the important duties of his office, that of punishing those who were not in favor of his election, and rewarding his political friends in proportion to their zeal, was a course better calculated to become popular in an absolute Monarchy, than among the intelligent and virtuous citizens of a REPUBLIC.

John Quincy Adams is accused of indecision and imbecility, because he did not turn out of office well qualified and worthy men, and supply their places with fawning, unprincipled sycophants! The same charge will apply to the elder Adams, to Jefferson, Madison, and Monroe—for previous to Gen. Jackson's administration, including a period of forty years, no more than seventy four persons were removed from office; but, during the four first months of Andrew Jackson's sway—one thousand four hundred and seventy individuals were removed! Many of whom were revolutionary patriots—of irreproachable characters, grown gray in the service of their country! If this representation is correct, (and we believe it to be so) according to the Sentinel, Gen. Jackson's decision and wisdom are almost infinitely greater than the combined wisdom and decision of his five predecessors!

It is difficult to say where the evil will terminate—this is but the beginning. A precedent is established which future Chief Magistrates may follow without any reasonable fear of being arraigned at the bar of public opinion. Henceforth the tenure by which an office holder will retain his situation, will be to espouse warmly the cause of his PATRON, whether right or wrong! If this is not bribery and corruption, and that of the basest and most dangerous kind, we are most egregiously mistaken in our estimate of moral or political worth.—Lowell Journal.

The public library, at Caen, has lately been enriched by several valuable volumes, not less curious than remarkable for the beauty of the writings. They are presents sent from Karibal and Coromandel, by Messrs. Firmin and Hippolite Joyau. They are written upon lamina of the palm tree, called in the country Aules, and contain dramatic poetry and eastern tales in Tumoul, one of the principal languages in the south of Hindostan. M. Joyau, sen., has also deposited at the Museum, in the names of his sons, a number of rare shells, but still a greater quantity have been lost by a singular accident. When the boat which brought this valuable addition to the science of conchology, from Ceylon to Karibal, left, the cholera had just broken out, and the sailors attributing the disease to the infection arising from the dead fish in the shells, they were all thrown back into the sea. Messrs. Joyau, however, hope to repair this loss, though it will be attended with considerable difficulty.—French paper.

Extract of a letter dated Tallahasse, Aug. 29:—We have just had a fashionable murder perpetrated here on one of our most respectable citizens. John R. Campbell, Esq. U. S. Attorney for this District, was shot through the head this morning, in a duel with Geo. Hamlin, a merchant of Magnolia.

Canal Tolls and Canal Navigation.—The aggregate amount of tolls received upon all the canals of the state of New York, for the month of August, is 147,945 dollars; exceeding the amount received during the same month last year by the sum of 58,226 dollars. The revenue derived from tolls, from the opening of navigation to the 1st of September, is greater by more than one hundred and fifty eight thousand dollars, than it was during the same months in 1832; and exceeds by about 100,000 dollars, the receipts for the like period in 1831.

The Cholera had a serious effect in diminishing the tolls for July and August of last year.

There is every indication of an active and extensive fall business, and it is now certain that the tolls of this year, compared with last, will show an increase of a hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and it would not be surprising if the increase should come up to two hundred thousand.

It was reported yesterday in this city, that the Bank of the United States had been officially assured that the government deposits would not be withdrawn. From the firmness and independence of the present Secretary of the Treasury, we can readily give credit to this report. Whatever may be Mr. DUANE's partisan prejudices, we do not believe that he will permit them to influence his official acts to the detriment of the public interests—he will not, therefore, be likely to gratify the wishes of Amos Kendall, or yield to the combined efforts of the whole private cabinet. He appears to have devoted himself with zeal and fidelity to the discharge of his important duties; and however he may incur the displeasure of intriguing and interested individuals, he will be sustained in his course by the American people.—Balt. Chronicle.

Another Revolutionary Patriot Gone!

Died, at his residence in this Borough, on Wednesday the 4th inst. in the 89th year of his age, the venerable ROBERT ORR, one of the Associate Judges of this county. Judge Orr was born in the county of Derry, Ireland, and emigrated to the United States in the year 1766, and from that time until the year 1774 resided east of the mountains; in which year he married a young lady of the name of Culbertson, of respectable family, in the (then) county of Cumberland, (now) Mifflin. In the same year he settled with his wife at Hannahstown, in Westmoreland county. Immediately on the declaration of Independence, Mr. Orr took a very active part in favor of his adopted country; and as the frontier was at that time unprotected from the excursions, depredations, and cruelties of the savages by any regular force, he was always found foremost in volunteering his services, and in encouraging others to do so.—Kittanning Gazette, Sept. 4.

A new Musical Institution in Switzerland.—"A man of talents, zeal, and devotion, Mr. Bernard Kaupert has just commenced at Geneva a gratuitous course of national music, as he had previously done in several cities of the Canton of Vaud, where his generous efforts were crowned, as they were here, with complete success. Penetrated with the happy influence of music on the manners, and desirous of endowing French Switzerland with popular songs, of which Germany is so justly proud, Mr. Kaupert, who luckily possesses an independent fortune, has for two years past devoted all his time to the propagation of his system, the benefits of which already extend over the principal cities of western Switzerland.

"His lessons, in which all were invited to participate, were given in one of our churches. A numerous committee, representing the various classes of society, had been formed, previous to the arrival of Mr. Kaupert, in order to aid him in the accomplishment of his difficult task. A collection of national songs, similar to those of the Canton of Vaud, was published and distributed at the commencement of the course.

"The music of these songs is, in general, easy; the words are of a religious, moral, or patriotic character. They are, for the most part, national or popular airs, arranged for three or four voices, hymns, military marches, &c.

"Such was the eagerness of all classes of society to avail themselves of these precious lessons, that Kaupert was forced to give four lessons a day. At the end of two sittings, the pupils, to the number of fifteen or sixteen hundred, executed some of these songs in three or four parts, in a very satisfactory manner, and at the end of the first week, a public concert took place in a large plain at the gates of the city, called Palace Plain, composed of about four thousand singers, as well men as women and children, and at which a great part of the population was present.

"At the end of the second week, another concert was held in St. Peter's Cathedral, the different voices were separated and grouped around the professor, who directed them from a platform in the middle of the church. It is impossible to form a just conception of the effect produced by four thousand persons singing together. It was a solemn spectacle. Deputations from the Canton of Vaud were present on that day, with their banner at their head, (for each of the societies of the different cities has its banner) to unite their voices with ours.

"This new pleasure has given fresh life to our population, and revealed to them, in some degree, the sense of harmony, which attendance at the theatre and at concerts had not been able to give them. During the whole duration of the course, the city had the appearance of a festival, and this musical movement has brought together all classes of society. Mr. Kaupert has left Geneva, in order to disseminate the popular song in other cities of Switzerland, carrying with him the regrets of his numerous pupils, and loaded with the public gratitude.

"Different professors have offered to continue the patriotic work so admirably commenced by Mr. Kaupert. The national song is henceforward an institution; we are occupied about the regulations of this immense society which the government has taken under its protection. Henceforward, all public rejoicings, the national festivals, religious, or military, will be graced by the charm of an imposing music."

Extract from an Address delivered before the Zelosophic Society of the University of Pennsylvania, by Hon. JOSEPH HOPKINSON, L. L. D., p. 26.

"The American parent does an injustice to his child which he can never repair, for which no inheritance can compensate, who refuses to give him a full education because he is not intended for a learned profession—whatever he may intend, he cannot know to what his son may come; and, if there should be no change in this respect, will a liberal education be lost upon him because he is not a lawyer, a doctor, or a divine? Nothing can be more untrue or pernicious than this opinion. It is impossible to imagine a citizen of this commonwealth to be in any situation in which the discipline and acquirements of a collegiate education, however various and extended, will not have their value. They will give him consideration and usefulness, which will be seen and felt in his daily intercourse of business or pleasure; they will give him weight and worth as a member of society, and be a never failing source of honorable, virtuous, and lasting enjoyment, under all circumstances, and in every station of life.—They will preserve him from the delusion of dangerous errors, and the seductions of degrading and destructive vices. The gambling table will not be resorted to, to hasten the slow and listless step of time, when the library offers a surer and more attractive resource. The bottle will not be applied to, to stir the languid spirit to action and delight, when the magic of the poet is at hand to rouse the imagination, and pour its fascinating wonders on the soul.—Such gifts, such acquirements, will make their possessor a true friend, a more cherished companion, a more interesting, beloved, and loving husband, a more valuable and respected parent."

A man should'nt follow his nose without taking counsel of his eyes

There is one point connected with India at once interesting to every one whose lot has been cast for a time in Asia, as well as the many thousands who are connected with them at home, all of whom will feel greatful to Sir Robert Inglis for bringing forward the important subject of steam navigation.—The proposed lines of intercourse by Egypt and the Euphrates have both been carefully examined by Captain Chesney, and that of the Red Sea (of late) by Captain Head, who urges this rout with much force and energy. The reports of Captain Chesney, however, make it almost a balanced question as to the separate advantages of each, and if this be so, Ministers have a simple task; for if it be difficult to say which is the preferable one, both may be tried experimentally, and that one continued permanently which proves on experience to be the cheapest and best.

We already have a line of packets monthly to Malta, and it cannot, therefore, when so much is done, be a very serious expense to continue that line on to Kanderden or Egypt, and then to have a small river steamer on the Euphrates or Nile, the rest of the distance to be completed by one of the Indian steamers: in which way it is said that a few thousand pounds would suffice for an actual experiment for twelve months by either of them; and, were the expense greater, the country should afford it, to accomplish so great a matter as this intercourse would involve, not only to the public, but private individuals. We cannot learn that there are any serious objections either to the Euphrates or the Red Sea; but if there be such in the one, there will be the resource of the other, and if we do not like either of them, why not run the Malta line of packets onwards by Constantinople to Trebizond, and thence by land to the Tigris and the Euphrates, or through Persia? for we actually have three routs, each of which would give us a communication in from 37 to 47 days.—London Globe.

The Quebec Mercury, of Tuesday, contains fifty five arrivals, nearly all from Europe. They bring but seventy six settlers. We therefore fear that even the moderate estimate of five thousand to arrive this fall, will not be realized.

Steam Boat Burnt.—We learn from below, that, on the 30th August, about 2 o'clock, A. M., at the mouth of the Ohio, the Steam Boat La Fayette took fire and was burned to the water's edge. She was loaded with provisions for the U. States' Troops, and with lumber for the erection of barracks—and was on her passage to St. Louis. The boat is said to have been worth about $8,000, and no insurance.—Cincin. Gaz.

A further sum of 8,000 dollars, of the stolen money, has recently been recovered by the Bank, in this place, from one of the robbers in N. York.—Wheeling Gazette.

BOSTON MARKET, Sept. 9.

Havana, 13 1-2 cts.; 150 do. do. Rio, 13 1-4 cts.; and prime green St. Jago, 13 1-2 a 14 cts.; a parcel of 80 bags of old and superior Sumatra, at 12 3-4 cts., 6 mo.

FLOUR—The market continues very inactive, and common descriptions are a shade lower; sales of Howard street have been made at quotations, and Fredericksburg at 5 7-8, 4 mos. Since our last about 3,000 brls. new wheat Flour have come into market, and sales of 600 brls. Petersburg, Rio, and Western brands at a considerable advance on the quotations for old Flour—taken for a South American market. In Fredericksburg, new, we believe there has been nothing done. Genessee is again scarce, but further arrivals are momently expected. Baltimore, Howard st., per brl., 4 mos. credit. 6 12.

GRAIN—The arrivals have been considerable, and a further reduction in prices has been submitted to; about 20,000 bushels white Corn have been sold at 65 a 66 cts., and yellow flat 67 a 68 cts. per bushel. 10 a 12,000 do. LAW LIBRARY,

TO BE EDITED BY

Thomas Sergeant & John C. Lowber, Esqs.

IT is the object of this publication, to furnish gentlemen of the bar, with the most important British elementary treatises upon Law, in a form which will render them far less expensive than works of this description have hitherto been. To gentlemen residing at a distance from the principal cities, the advantages of this publication will be made apparent. The very low price at which it will be afforded, and the facility with which important works, in the periodical form, can be transmitted by mail, are the attractions upon which it will depend for public favor.

The selection of the works, to be embraced in this collection, is confided to the gentlemen above named, already widely and favorably known to the profession. It will be understood that it forms no part of the plan to admit original communications, or to give the work in any degree the character of a journal. Distinct in its design, it cannot interfere with any existing periodical, nor is it intended at any time to depart from our present plan, which is to reprint British elementary treatises, suited to the business and practice of this country, in a more cheap and convenient form than has ever yet been done. For this purpose the proprietor will receive from his agent in London, at the earliest date, every important publication as it issues from the press.

The series commenced with Theobald's 'Practical Treatise on the Law of Principal and Surety, particularly with relation to Mercantile Guaranties, Bills of Exchange, and Bail Bonds," 1 vol. 8vo. London, 1832. The English cost of this work is $3 75. The entire work is included in one number of the "Library," and to subscribers will be furnished at the very low price of 83 cents.—A title page will be printed for each work upon its completion.

The second number contains 'A Treatise on the Statutes of Limitation,' by William Blanshard, Esq., of the Inner Temple, complete, and the greater part of Wilkinson's Treatise on the 'Limitation of Actions.' The third number, which completes the first volume of the Law Library, contains the remainder of Wilkinson, and A Treatise, complete, on the Law Distresses, by James Bradby, a new edition, with additions, by John Adams.

The number for October, which will be the first of the second volume, will contain part of Shelford's 'Practical Treatise on the Law concerning Lunatics, Idiots, and Persons of unsound mind—With an Appendix of the Statutes of England, Ireland, and Scotland, relating to such persons, and Precedents and Bills of Costs.' London, 8vo. 1833. This work, together with Watson's 'Treatise on the Law relating to the Office and Deputy of Sheriff; comprising the whole of the Duties, Remunerations, and Liabilities of Sheriffs,' &c. &c. will be completed in the early numbers of the Library. The English cost of these works is 20 dollars, and will be included in about four numbers of the Law Library.

The English cost of the works comprised in the first three numbers of the Library, was $14 25. They are furnished to our subscribers for $2 50.

The 'Law Library' will be published in monthly numbers, royal octavo, of about 200 pages, at $10 per annum, payable in advance, and will be sent by mail to any part of the United States. It is unnecessary to enlarge upon the advantages of the plan of this publication—they will be apparent to all. For the small sum required for it, there will be annually included in its pages, works which would cost the purchaser, if procured in the usual way, from forty to fifty dollars. The names of the editors (well known to the American bar) are securities for adequate editorship. No work will be reprinted that will not be valuable to every lawyer, wherever his residence in the United States may be, and no expense will be spared on the part of the proprietor to render his publication in every respect worthy of extensive circulation.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM.☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.
Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases. and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Heron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
